DAY OF THE ANNUAL TOURNEY. Hamilton and Cochrane Tie for the Gold Medal but Are Put Out at Match Play -Brilliant Victories for Davis and Janin -Compton Ties Record for the Links.

To make a 78 and a 79 and still be put out on the first day was what happened to C. M. Ham-Iton at the annual open tournament of the Knollwood Golf Club yesterday. Another instance of the perversity of golfing fortunes." sa d the philosophers about the links. To accentuate their point, A. DeWitt Cochrane, who had also a 78 in the qualifybe round, had likewise to succumb in the first round at match play. Aside from the philosophers, these unusual incidents of the play filled all the casual onlookers with unmixed pleasure, and, to add to their enjoyment, it re puired an extra hole after a tie to put out both Hamilton and Cochrane.

In providing such an exciting sequence of events, the Knollwood tournament had lived up to its reputation of past seasons, as P. Gibert Thebaud, Howard Willets, Richard King, and the other committeemen took pleasure in proclaiming. This was not by any means the only thing the committeemen rejoiced in, for they had pleasant weather, a crowced clubhouse, and an enthusiastic field of players as additional factors to make the day a sporting and social success.

The links was never more playable nor more picturesque. The putting greens, although the grass was very thick so that some force was necessary to send the ball along, were very true, and no fault at all could be found with the fair greens. The distances and the bogey score

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

Trouble Among Race Promoters in Water-

There was to have been a race meet at Waterbury, Conn., last night in which Jimmy Michae was billed to figure, but it was called off because of friction between the promoters and the Waterbury Wheel Club. The club is said to have demanded a certain sum in order to indorse the application for a sanction. R. F. Kelsey of the N. C. A., New England district, seems to have sided with the club. All the circumstances were not obtainable last night. but enough was learned to make it clear that a Trenton is the first city to cut the bicycle for the automobile as an attraction at a mixed meet, and at the State fair there this fall there will be no bicycle races, but automobile races instead.

A bleyclist obeyed the law last night and it attracted the attention not only of wheelmen, but also of horsemen all along the Coney Island boulevard, where the incident occurred. The rider was homeward bound and had no light, and in accordance with the law he rang his bell every thirty feet as he proceeded. It was 100 clock at night and the frequently recurring clang of the bell caused idlers at the hotels to start to their feet and "rubber." It suggested an ambulance or a police patrol. There was no one in the way of the rider, but he was conscientious and kept sounding the bell. It struck every one who heard it and looked as a ridiculous performance and many jeering comments were passed upon the man who was obeying the law.

Samuel H. Andrews, chairman of the Public Action Committee of the Associated Cycling Clubs of Long I-land, bas received the follow-ing letter, which is of interest to all riders in Clubs of Long Island, has received the following letter, which is of interest to all riders in this locality:

In answer to your inquiry as to the condition of west Sevents into Sire to say that the confitract is now being carried out, and I have no doubt, if this weather continues that the work will be done in about to neeks, which will form connection direct with Coney Is and. In regard to the other matters in which you are interested I desire to asbuilt the following list of streets upon which the contractors have received orders to commence work.

Asphalt Favement—Summit street, from Hamilton avenue to Henry street; Sackett street, from Hoys to Bond street: DeGraw street, from Court to Bond street: Hancock street, from Howard avenue to Broadway: Flity-fifth street, from First to Third avenue; Amity street, from Hicks to Court street and Dean street, from Court to Nevins street.

Work on the above streets will probably be commenced during the coming week. For the following streets bids were received on June 15, 1800, and orders will be issued to the contractors to commence work as soon as contracts are certified by the Comptroller. It is very important that the certification with the foregoing list.

St. Mark's avenue, Albany to Ralphavenue, asphalt: Willoughby avenue, Bedford to Nostrand avenue, asphalt: Dean street, from Touth to Seventh avenue, asphalt: Greene avenue, Stuyresant to Bushwick avenue, asphalt: Wething avenue to Autantie avenue, as Avenue D, from Ocean avenue to Consy Island or nue, macadam pavement. The streets already let, you will find I have checked in red ink, are those which have not received the certification of the Comptroller, and work cannot be commenced until such certification shall have been received.

RACE. VIRGINIA'S FIRST

W. K. VANDERBILT, JR., HANDLES THE WHEEL AND NEARLY WINS.

Splendid Contest of the New 70-Footers Mineols, Rainbow and Virginia in the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Club's Series-Mr. Belmont's Boat in the Lead at the Finish. The Mineola, August Belmont's new 70-footer, won another race yesterday, defeating the Virginia and the Rainbow. The race was the first of a series arranged by the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht Club and was sailed in a whole-sail breeze. The yachts raced around a triangular course and were tested on all points of sailing. It was a truly sailed race, and the victory of the Mineola was well earned.

The surprise of the day was furnished by W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr.'s, Virginia. It was the first appearance of this yacht and Mr. Vanderbilt was at the wheel throughout the contest. He made a rather poor start, getting across the line 55 seconds behind the other two, but on the second leg of the course, while the Mineola and Rainbow were having a luffling match, the Virginia kept straight for the mark and turned with a substantial lead. The beat home was very interesting and the Mineola just managed to weather the Virginia a few seconds before ending the first round of the triangle. On the second round the Mineola made slight gains and in the end won by 1 minute 49 seconds, while the Rainbow was beaten 6 minutes 18 seconds. The Virginia will do better in her next. Her sails did not fit as well as they should, but they will probably be trimmed before the yacht starts in to-day's contest. Ideal weather favored the yachtsmen who arranged such an interesting programme. Early in the morning the outlook was not very good, but toward noon the breeze freshened and it blew steadily from the west-southwest throughout the race. The 70-footers sailed twentythree and a-half miles, nine and a-half miles of which were to the windward, and the Mineola's elapsed time was 3 hours 10 minutes 44 seconds. In addition to the regular prizes which are given to the winning yachts in each class, there are series prizes for the 70-footers, special 30footers and raceabouts, points being credited to each yacht as it finishes. All the prizes were on exhibition in the clubhouse at Oyster Bay and were admired by all. The Race Committee sent a tug across the Sound early in the morning to bring the racing yachts over and when all was ready the committee on the tug F. L. Luckenback went out to the starting line which was near the Oyster Island buoy. The preparatory signal sounded at 1 o'clock and the yachts got in position to start.

The 70-footers were the first off. They were to sail north-northwest three miles, then east by north, one-half north, four miles and then southwest by south four and threequarter miles, a total distance of eleven and three-quarter miles. This triangle was to be sailed twice over. When the preparatory signal was made all went to the south of the line. On the Mineola August Belmont held the watch while E. A. Willard kept his eye on things generally. Cornellus Vanderbilt sat near Capt. Parker on the Rainbow, counting the seconds, and Mrs. Vanderbilt was an interested spectator of what was happening. standing in the companionway. W. K. Vanderbilt had the wheel on the Virginia.

The vachts kept clear of the line until a short time before the starting signal, and then breaking out staysails and jib topsails stood on the starboard tack toward the windward end of the line. The Mineola and Rainbow crossed with the gun, the Mineola having the weather position, and the Virginia was fifty-five seconds late. The Mineola and Rainbow had balloon fore staysails while the Virginia carried a small staysail. The wind was abeam for the reach to the first mark and the Mineola gradually drew clear of the Rainbow, turning the mark at 1:23:00. The Rainbow was timed at 1:23:15 and the Virginia at 1:24:04. They gybed around the mark and with the wind over the starboard quarter had it almost free for the second leg of the journey.

The Rainbow closed up a little on the Mine-The Rainbow closed up a little on the Mine-ola and after about a mile of the leg had been sailed the two yachts indulged in a pretty luff-ing match that in the end proved rather costly to the Rainbow and made matters look serious for the Mineola. They luffed well to the s'uthard of the course and while they were having this fun the Vir-ginia set her spinnaker to starboard and was able to more than make up what she had lost through heing late at the line. At 1:41 the Minecia still leading the Rainbow gybed her boom over and setting her spinnaker to port atoed for the line. The Rainbow followed. The Virginia tacked around the second mark at 1:56:20, Minecia at 1:58:08 and Rainbow at 1:59:10. It was a beat to the home mark and the Minecia had all she could do to cut down the Virginia's lead. The three yachts stood well in to Lloyd's Point and then worked across. Oyster Bay in short tacks. The Minecia gradually closed up on the leader, but it was not until they were very close to the home mark that she was able to weather her. The times taken at the home mark the end of the first round were: Minecia 2.43:00. Virginia, 2:43:18; Rainbow, 2:46:50. The elapsed times of each yacht on the different legs are shown in the following table:

As soon as she got clear of the Virginia the Mineola increased her lead. It was a reach to the first mark on the second round where they were timed: Mineola, 3:01 40, Virginia, 3:03.00; Rainbow, 3:05:20. They gybed around and the Mineola and Virginia set spinnalters to starboard. The Rainbow had made a slight gain on the reach and she made a further gain on the run. At the second mark the yachts were timed: Mineola, 3:29:40; Virginia, 4:31:10. Rainbow, 3:33:08, The Mineola stood in toward the Long Island shore, but as soon as the Virginia turned the mark she tacked, and the Mineola came about at once. The two yachts sailed very closely on this leg, and the Mineola's gain was very slight, as the times will show. The Mineola crossed the finishing line at 4:15:44. Virginia 4:17:33, Rainbow 4:22:02. The elapsed times on the three legs of the second round were:

by Ralph N. Ellis, finished a seconds ahead of Wawa. These boats sailed sixteen and a half miles.

In the 36-foot class the Enpronzi, Alfred Peat's new boat, built by Wood from designs by B. B. Crowinshield, met the Oiseau and Alerion. The new boat did well on the first round and led at the home mark, but on the windward work of the second round she was passed by the other two. The Oiseau led at the finish, but was not far enough ahead to save the time she had to allow the Alerion, and that boat won the prize. They sailed 16½ miles.

Seven raceabouts started in their class and the coniest was one of the hottest witnessed in a long time. They went over the line bunched with Six, Colleen and Samp the leaders. The Scamp, sailed by B. B. Crowinshield and Johnston de Forest, led at the end of the first round. On the second, however, the Sis and Persimmon managed to pass the Scamp and they finished in that order. The course was 13½ miles in length.

To-day's race will be for schooners, 95 and 76-foot classes; sloops, first, 80, 69, 43, special 30 and 25-foot classes; yawis, first and 43-foot classes; catboats, 25, 21 and 18-foot classes; raceabouts and Seawanhaka knockabouts. The start will be made at 10 clock. The tugboat to take the yachts to Oyster Bay will leave New Rochelle.

NORMAL COLLEGE GRADUATES. Diplomas Presented to 468 Yesterday-Degrees and Prizes.

The thirty-first commencement of the Normal College was held yesterday morning. There were 468 graduates, of whom 150 received the A. B. degree. That is conferred on those taking a year additional to the regular four-year course. President Miles M. O'Brien of the Board of Education, who is one of the trustees of the college, addressed the graduates, praising the work of the college and saying that those who went out from it to their life work found themselves well equipped for their vocation. The president of the college, Dr. Thomas Hunter, delivered a short address of commendation and advice before awarding the diplomas. The przes for proficiency and faithfulness in college work were awarded by Dr. Waldo H. Richardson, who also made an address.

Miss Anita S. R. Lawrence and Miss Edna Harwood won the Webrum and Cohen prizes for essays, respectively, and Miss Rosina Ella Smith the Rogers prize for an essay. The winner of the first honorary essay was Miss Helen Margarat Kinch and of the second honorary essay Miss Bertha Maxwell Palmer. Miss Agnes Peterson delivered the salutatory and Miss May A. Ingenthron the valedictory. At the opening of the exercises Schnecker's "The Earth Is the Lord's" was sung in chorus, and the exercises closed with the singing of "America." Afterward the graduates held impromptu receptions and found themselves very popular. Eight of the students had a record of not having been absent or tardy in the whole college course. These were Misses Madeline D. Atkinson, Charity Blauvelt, Annie Catherine Hag, Mirlam E. Cronk, Jennie McKenzle, Anna M. Weiss, Mary J. Down and Adelaide Arbogast. tion. DR. CUYLER'S TRIBUTE TO BROOK-LYN'S VENERABLE MERCHANT.

Old and Young Gather in Church to Honor His Memory-Children, Grandchildren and Great-Grandchildren Attend; Also Representatives of the Big Firms of the Borough

Public services over the body of Azel Dennis Matthews, head of the dry goods firm of A. D. Matthews & Co. of Brooklyn, who died on Monday morning at Pittsfield, Mass., in his 92d year, were held in the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn last night. This is the church with which Mr. Matthews had affiliated during the latter years of his life. The services were conducted by the pastor emeritus, Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler; the present pastor, Dr. David Gregg, and the Rev. Reese F. Alsop, pastor of St. Ann's Protestant Episcopal Church, of which the dead man was formerly a member The body was brought to the church and placed in front of the pulpit and against a huge bank of flowers made up of bouquets sent by many friends of the Matthews family.

There was a large congregation. In the front seats were the members of Mr. Matthews's family-children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and relatives not in the line of direct descent. Many old men were present, mostly members of the Society of Old Brooklynites, of which Mr. Matthews had been an enthusiastic supporter. Many members of the Sunday School Union, in the service of which he had spent much effort, were present also, and the principal business firms of Brooklyn were fully represented, besides a number of firms in this borough. The galleries were filled with employees of the store, nearly all of whom had known Mr. Matthews personally, for he had kept up his close relations with his business and all that related to it to the end. It was a and all that related to it to the end. It was a representative gathering of those who had known the dead man in his various paths of activity.

The services began with the reading of the burial service as the coffia was brought in borne by porter bearers and preceded by a score of honorary bearers, consisting of members of the Matthews family and intimate friends. The reading was by the Rev. Reese F. Alsop of St. Ann's Church. A hymn was then sing, and the venerable Dr. Cuyler, who, as pastor of the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church for many years had been associated with Mr. Matthews in church work, came forward to speak. He said:

"Again our loved city is suffering under a great bereavement. Only a short time ago the recognized leader in the pulpit, the beloved Dr. Storrs, went to his reward. Now the grave opens for another loved friend, Azel Dennis Matthews. So Brooklyn's oldest minister is shortly followed by Brooklyn's oldest minister is shortly followed by Brooklyn's oldest minister is shortly followed by Brooklyn's oldest merchant. In many respects the characters of the two men were alike. Both were moulded in the same part of the country; both came from Massachusetts and inherited some of the iron in the blood that New England seasons her sons with, and both held fast to the God of their childhood throughout life.
"Mr. Matthews was born in 1809, the year

chusetts and inherited some of the iron in the blood that New England seasons her sons with and both held fast to the God of their childhood throughout life.

"Mr. Matthews was born in 1800, the year that gave to the world Gladstone and Abraham Lincoin. He was born in that most beautiful county in all this country, the country of Berkshire, and it was among its glorious hills that death came to him, as he had wished. He came of excellent ancestry, but escaped the misfortune of inheriting great wealth, which has brought ruin to so many young men. He started from an humble beginning but with the spirit of high enterprise that kept pressing him ever forward until he stood at the head of one of the most successful and honorable business firms of our city. When he came to Brooklyn it was a comparatively small city, but he saw the possibilities of growth and progressed with the growth of the city. His first religious association here was with St. Ann's Poiscopal Church: then, when he moved to another part of the town, he joined St. Peter's Church, and became a realous Episcopalian of the extreme low church and evangelical type; yet he was broad in his sympathies and ever ready to connect himself with any good work, no matter what denomination fostered it. In later years, when he took up his residence in this part of the city, he found his spiritual home under this root and cast in his lot with the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church. Yet he never changed his vital faith an iota. The same gospel that he had believed and followed in St. Ann's and St. Peter's was still the food of his soul to the end.

"Mr. Matthews was much interested in Sunday school work and he was an active force in the establishment of the Sunday school system in Brooklyn. Never was he happier than when surrounded by children. His heart was as young as theirs. I never knew any other man of like age or near it who, to such an extent, preserved the vivacity, the aiertness, and the sprightliness of youth. The last time I met him was four weeks ago at last time I met him was four weeks ago at the Sunday school anniversary celebration and I said to him then 'You are about the most promising man present to-day.' What was the secret of that inspiring and perennial youthfulness? It was not alone his buoyant temper and loving heart, but because to the last he continued to touch human life at every ne continued to touch human life at every important point. He was not so unwise as to retire from business, that disastrous mistake that so many old men make. He never retired from social life; he never gave up the service of the Master, and he went with all his armor on to meet the crowned conquerors in glory.

service of the Master, and he went with all his armor on to meet the crowned conquerors in glory.

"The departure of this venerable servant of God leaves many a great gap, not to be filled. In the Society of Old Brooklynites he was always eagerly welcomed, and his sunny temper and cheerful companionship made him loved by all his fellows. His death is a great be-reavement to the Sunday School Union, to which he had given so much thought and earnest support for years. Nowhere will he be so serely missed as in that large family circle where he was the central figure to the last, among his children, grandchildren and greatgrandchildren. Such a man's companionship and influence is a splendid inheritance, not only to his own family, but to all those who were privileged to come in contact with him."

Several times during his address, though he spoke with virile force and conviction, the old minister was visibly affected and found it difficult to control his voice. His address made a profound impression upon the congregation. The Rev. Dr. David Gregg made a prayer after which the choir sang "For All the Saints." The service closed with the benediction by Dr. Gregg. At the conclusion, those present came forward in line and looked at the face of the dead man before passing out. The body was then taken back to the house at 44 South Portland avenue. The interment, which will be private, will be in Greenwood Cemetery, probably this morning.

MARIA BARBERI DESERTED AGAIN. Her Late Lawyer Says That Newspaper No toriety Has Spoiled Her.

Maria Bruno, who when she was Maria Barberikilled her faithless lover, Dominico Cataldo, and escaped punishment for the crime after two trials, visited Bellevue Hospital yesterday with her baby, carrying a letter from Mrs. Foster, one of the Tombs' "angels," who asked that mother and baby be cared for. The doctors found that the baby was suffering from an abscess on the law, but otherwise neither mother nor baby appeared to need medical treatment. Dispensary treatment for the baby was advised vised.

Mrs. Foster's letter stated that Maria had "no home but a furnished room at 185 Chrystie street." A few days ago Maria visited Manny Friend, the law er who defended her in her two trials for murder, to tell him that Bruno, the barber husband she had married since the trials, had deserted her. The lawyer said yesterday that newspaper notoriety had spoiled the woman for a hum-drum existence.

BLEW UP AN ALCOHOL BARREL. Small Boys Who Dropped a Firecracker Inside and Sat on the Barrel Astonished.

Benjamin Berkowitz, 10 years old, and Joseph Asch, 13 years old, were setting off firecrackers last night in Second avenue, where they live, and they found a fifty-gallon empty barrel standing in front gallon empty barrel standing in front of Samuel Weiss's saloon. The barrel had contained alcohol, but the boys didn't know it and wouldn't probably have cared if they had. Berkowitz lighted a cannon firecracker and dropped it in the bunghole. Asch sat on the barrel to see it the concussion would amount to anything. It did.

The fumes of the alcohol in the barrel exploded. Asch was hurled about fifteen feet in the air. The barrel was blown to bits. Berkowitz was thrown a short distance, burned about the face and hands and sustained several slight scalp wounds. Asch suffered from shock. An ambulance surgeon from Believue attended both boys and they were taken home.

GOLD BASIS FOR COSTA RICA. Republic's Preparations for the Change Which

NEW ORLEANS, June 21.-Juan B. Quires, Minister of Finance of Costa Rica, will leave here to-morrow on the steamer Anselm for Costa Rica to put in operation the new financia system of the Republic, which will adopt the gold standard on July 15. Senor Quiras has had $4,000,000 in gold currency coined at the United States mint in Philadelphia in coins known as five, ten and twenty colens, a colen being 48 cents. Half a million dollars in gold was shipped to Costa Rica from New Orleans last week and $500,000 will go by the next steamer. It is believed that the $4,000,000 is enough to begin business with.

The Bank of Costa Rica has been the official bank of the country, and has had a contract with the Government for fifteen years. That contract just expiring enables the Republic to go on a gold basis. The bank had the privilege of issuing $4 in notes for every one of coin it held and it has a large issue of notes due. To meet them it has just imported $500,000 from held and it has a large issue of notes due. To meet them it has just imported $500,000 from New York and contracted for $1,000,000 more. Fearing trouble, it has applied to the Government for assistance, and Senor Quiras has received a letter from President Iglesea announcing that he has decided to grant the assistance asked for, as the failure or suspension of the bank would prove damaging to the people of Costa Rica.

The English bank has assisted the Government in its adoption of the gold standard. There is $600,000 in silver in Costa Rica used as a fractional currency. It will be retained, but the Government has prohibited the importation of more silver and $100,000 imported from Colombia has been sent to New York to be sold there. In consequence of the adoption of the gold standard, exchange, which has hitherto been fluctuating and has frequently been juggled, has fallen to 122. Senor Quiras expects to see it drop to 110 or 115, which he regards as normal. President Iglesea's letter to Secretary Quiras announced that the Colombian revolution was on its last legs and that the Colombian Government was preparing to make a demand on President Zelaya of Nicaragua for a large money in demnity for the assistance given by him to the revolutionists, especially in lending them the Nicaraguan gunboat Titumbla. The Titumbla is back at Greytown and the Nicaraguans say that she was stolen by the rebels, but the Columbian authorities say they have learned that she was loaned with the consent of Zelaya, if not tendered by him.

HOT DAY AT CAMP.

The Seventy-first Drills and Excursionists Visit the Eighth and See Their Games.

STATE CAMP, PERKSKILL, N. Y., June 21 .-Men of the Seventy-first were reminded to-day by the temperature of their experience in Cuba. But they did not complain, and, before breakfast, they went through the usual company drills in extended order. For two hours this morning there was drill in battle formation, and blank cartridges were fired which brought a protest from a resident of one of the villas near the camp. The protestant said he feared some one would be killed. This afternoon there was practical illustration of Cossack outpost duty. The day closed with a fine evening parade.

Among the 678 excursionists who came on the Iron Steamboat Cepheus from New York to Camp Townsend were Brig.-Gen. George D. Scott, formerly Colonel of the Eighth; former Capt. Edmund Barker and Capt. George Wentworth, and ex-Chaplain Strader of the Eighth. In the field games of the Eighth in the afternoon the referee was Col. Jarvis. The Judges were Lieut. Col. Riddabock and Majors Kirby and Edwards; starter, Lieut. Fickle; clerks, Capts. Jacoby and Ross; field committee, Capt. Lyon and Lieut. Acker. These are the summaries:

100-yard dash: Murphy first, Rieling second; 75-yard wheelbarrow race: Sergeant McCauly first; 440-yard run; Murphy first, Quick second; 75-yard three-legged race: Lawlor and Culham first, Lampo and Kaufman second; 120-yard hurdle: Lieut. Monohan first, Stroeder second; running high Jump: Lieut. Monohan and Private Shroeder tied. On the toss Shroeder won. The tug-of-war between the first and second battalions was won by the latter.

The final scores in the Flannagan trophy shoot are: First Battery, 41: Second Battery, 197; Sixth Battery, 185. Again the trophy goes to the Second Battery.

It was a very flery affair indeed. After that the exhibition of fireworks proceeded in the manner of former summers, except that the bombs were more numerous and elaborate than ever before. There was a portrait of President McKinley for those who approved the Philadelphia nomination to applaud. The climax was a mass of rockets and jets of rain-bow hues stretching the entire length of the lake and making a tremendous scene of sputtering and flaring splendor.

LION BREWERY PARTNERS DIFFER. The Man Says the Woman Is Upsetting Things and He Wants to Get Out.

Simon E. Bernheimer has brought an action in the Supreme Court for a dissolution of his partnership with Mrs. Josephine Schmid, the widow of the late August Schmid, in the Lion Brewery. The brewery business has been established for forty years at 107th street and Columbus avenue. The firm formerly conducted Lion Park, which was well patronized as an outing and picnic place for many years. August Schmid died on June 4, 1889, leaving a large estate, and his widow has since been in charge of the brewery interests he left. Besides the brewery property, the firm also owns property in Hoboken.

Mr. Bernheimer avers that differences have arisen between him and Mrs. Schmid as to the conduct of the business which threaten to injure the interests of both in the partnership affairs. For instance, she insisted that the brewmaster and superintendent of the brewery who has held that post for many years, should be dismissed. She wanted a material reduction made in the amount of beer produced and changes made in the methods of conducting the brewery which were not suited to the plant. It is alleged that the firm owns property worth about $3,000,000. Mr. Bernhelmer asks for a dissolution of the partnership and that its assets be given over to a receiver to be sold and August Schmid died on June 4, 1889, leaving a It is alleged that the firm owns property worth about $3,000,000. Charges Against Him. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 21.-Dr. Charles E. Cameron appeared in the Middlesex County Criminal Court to-day and pleaded guilty to the first and last of six counts in the indictment charging him with stealing, receiving and concealing book plates belonging to the library of Harvard University. The case was continued until next term for sentence. Dr. Cameron is well known as a physician in Boston, Philadel-phia and New York. He was graduated from McGill University, Montreal.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 21.-Plans for the new architectural building at Harvard are now completed and work on the foundations will be started early next month. It is understood that the building will be ready for occupancy in the autumn of 1901. The structure will stand on a autumn of 1901. The structure will stand on a lot at the corner of Quincy street and Broadway, the site of Prof. Langdell's dwelling. The general character of the architecture will be Greek. On the lower floor will be an exhibition hall to be devoted to a valuable collection of Greek, Roman and Renaissance casts. The main drawing room, 140 feet long and 30 feet wide, will fill the entire north side of the upper floor.

Horse Scared to Death.

RICHMOND, Va., June 21.-A horse belonging to Samuel Belcher of Swansboro was frightened to death yesterday afternoon on the free bridge in Richmond. HALLE GUILTY OF MURDER ONLY A PLEA OF INSANITY FOR THE

DEFENCE AND NO EVIDENCE. Jury Out Less Than Half an Hour-Counsel Will Endeavor to Get a New Trial on the Ground That the Proceedings Were Hurried - Prosecution Calls It a Merciless Murder

After being out a scant half hour the jury in the case of Aaron Halle, on trial before Justice Fursman in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court for killing Mamie Brannigan in Reinhardt & Co.'s department store at Eightysixth street and Third avenue, on May 17, brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree at noon yesterday. The verdict was expected by all who have followed the case. Halle evinced no emotion at the verdict and did not even raise his head when it was pronounced. He seemed unconscious or heedless of the meaning of the foreman's words. His counsel, Abraham Levy, said that he hoped to get a new trial on the ground that this one was improperly hurried. It is one of the swiftest murder trials on record, the entire proceedings, after the selection of the jury, having taken up only three sessions, two morning and one afternoon. Before District Attorney McIntyre closed for the prosecution on Wednesday he got permission to call yesterday the Coroner's physician who had made the autopsy and one other witness, who was to show premeditation. Coroner's Physician Weston was accordingly called yesterday and proved the death. Then Margaret Goldsburg, with whom Mamie Brannigan lived at 65 West 103d street, was called and gave testimony showing that Halle had had in mind the killing of Mamie before the day of the murder. "One day Mamie and I were going to church," she said, "when Halle called. It was on May 4. He asked her where she was going and seach was opened last night. The show was called "Fujiyama, or, Japan in Flower and in Flame." The further shore of the little lake was set with Japanese houses and terraced gardens in the background, while beyond rose the famous mountain with its volcanic peak.

asked Mr. McIntyre.
"No," said the way

I'm willing to do ten years for you. At that time he showed a pistol. Mamie was frightened and went with him."

Is that the only time he ever threatened her?" asked Mr. McIntyre.

"No," said the witness, "One time he came to the house to see her and they were talking in the hallway. I couldn't hear what they said, but he had a revolver and I think he threatened to shoot her, for she ran upstairs screaming."

On cross-examination the witness said that she understood that Halle and Miss Brannigan were enzaged to be married. Halle generally came there when the witness was not at home.

Dr. Ferguson, who had analyzed the pills found on Halle after the murder, was present and the prosecution wanted him called, but the defence wouldn't assent to it. It had been the contention of the defence that Halle had committed the murder while under the influence of morphine in the pills. Dr. Ferguson's analysis showed, however, that the pills were strychnine pills, a tonic.

No witnesses were called in behalf of Halle, despite the statement formerly made by the defence that witnesses would be called to show insanity in Halle's family. Lawyer Levy made an appeal for the prisoner based on the assumption that he was not of sound mind when he shot Mamle Brannigan. While his lawyer was speaking Halle wrinkled his forehead and a few tears ran down his cheeks.

Summing up for the prosecution Mr. McIntyre said that there was no room for mercy in the case of the defendant. It was as merciless and cold-blooded a murder as could well be imagined. Halle showed no pity for his victim, but shot her down after she was running from him, wounded to death. When Mr. McIntyre spoke of the girl's calling out, "Oh! Ed., don't, don't, Mrs. Brannigan, the dead girl's mother sobbed audibly and Halle was visibly moved. His head sank lower than ever and tears streamed down his cheeks.

"It is alleged that this defendant is insane, continued the Assistant District Attorney," but I want you, gentlemen, to ask yourselved in the defence would have the winses
